" It can be very difficult to find someone hungry as they are humble in this industry, but Damon definitely fits this description. Damon works both very smart and very hard, asking the right questions and putting in his own time to figure out what needs to be done to achieve his goals. He takes strong initiative to see his projects and aspirations through. But along with that, he is a team player that is here to learn with others and makes choices that are right for the team. HIGHLY recommend Damon for anyone's team!"
